

Edited by HARRY STEPHEN KEELER—

THE Editor of 10 STORY BOOK, in rejecting the enclosed offering realizes that in many instances the return of a manuscript creates in the recipient a keen sense of disappointment and injustice. It must be remembered by the author, however, that one of many peculiar factors may serve to disqualify for our use a story which seems eminently fitted to 10 STORY BOOK and that on account of the prevailing flood of editorial duties we are unable to do more than enclose the soulless, unfeeling and stereotyped rejection slip. We suggest, though, that you keep us in mind when submitting to magazines any further stories along our line, and perhaps as editor and author we may enjoy a pleasanter and more profitable relationship next time.

Cordially, THE EDITOR
